CAIRO, June 24.—Engagements with Axis mechanized forces west of Solum on the Libyan-Egyptian frontier were reported today by the British middle east high command as Imperial units and German and Italian forces assembled along the border in preparation for the forthcoming battle for Egypt.

Latest indications were that German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces were planning to attack Egypt by a wide sweep south, by-passing Fort Capuzzo and Halfaya Pass.

British mobile columns carried out considerable activity west of the main positions being held by the eighth army to observe movements of Axis forces and conduct harassing tactics against the advancing Germans and Italians.

So your gang is fixing to come downtown Thursday night and watch the blackout activities? Some film eh Charley? Stick around the corner of Mill and Washington streets and watch folks bump into lamp posts and all that sort of thing.

That gives you a rough idea of what some of the folks have in mind for Thursday night when the practice will be on. Don't look now but the idea is as wet as a boarding house towel.

John, who is a former News carrier, has been in the U.S. Navy for the past four years, and has seen some thrilling action in the battles against the Japs in which the men from the Lexington attacked themselves with honor and glory.

One of John's heroes is Lieutenant Edward H. "Butch" O'Hare, who was attached to the Lexington, and who shot down six Jap planes single-handed in the battle off the Gilbert Islands, last February.

Churchill Will Weather Storm

Appears Winner In Stiffest
Battle—Much Criticism
Is Withstood

By LEO V. DOLAN

LONDON, June 24.—Three thousand miles from home, unable to appear in person to face his parliamentary accusers and necessarily silent in the face of unprecedented criticism, Prime Minister Winston Churchill, today nevertheless appeared to have won the stiffer political battle of his career.

A survey of responsible quarters in the lobbies of the House of Commons made it evident that a motion of non-confidence in his conduct of the war, slated for early vote in the House of Commons, is doomed to complete defeat.

Thus Churchill, still deeply engrossed with President Roosevelt in a series of conferences dedicated to the high strategy of the war, promises to emerge once again the champion of Britain's war efforts—the only man in whom this nation reposes confidence and conviction of ultimate victory.

Yesterday Churchill was the butt of attacks that for sheer venom have had few parallels even in the story history of Britain's parliament.

The question of when and where an attempt should be made to have American and British troops come grips with the German army on the European continent is said to depend on other factors besides that of shipping.

Anti-Sub Campaign Being Expanded

Navy Officers Heard In Secret

Senate Naval Affairs Committee Inquiring Into Atlantic Sinkings

ALL KINDS OF BOATS NOW BEING UTILIZED

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Top-ranking navy officers have assured the senate naval affairs committee in secret session that the anti-submarine campaign is rapidly expanded on the Atlantic coast and in the gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean sea.

This disclosure was made today in the wake of the navy announcement that 13 United Nations merchant ships were sunk in the Caribbean in a 12-day period between June 3 and June 14, with a probable loss of 135 lives.

Deeply Concerned

Members of the senate committee, deeply concerned over the sinkings, nevertheless indicated belief that the navy is now doing its utmost to combat the U-boat menace.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.) who severely criticized failure of the navy to prepare to meet the submarine menace, said "we'll just have to take our medicine and do our best and hope that we can build the anti-submarine boats we need before we lose too many ships."

"The sinking of 13 ships in the Caribbean is tragic," he said. "We did obtain, however, fairly good evidence before our committee that the navy is now leaving nothing undone."

"They are utilizing all kinds of small boats, and are trying to coordinate their use with the civilian air patrol. If their plans can be accomplished, we will get some place in protecting our shipping."

Ellender urged that the navy build a small boat which has been considered by experts as lacking in striking force against submarines, on the ground that it would be useful if coordinated with an air patrol.

Wide authority has been given by congress for construction of any type of boat the navy wants in the anti-submarine warfare, he said. The navy has disclosed that it is building many fast patrol boats of the type which were so effective around the Philippines islands.

Ellender said that many ships of the Canadian Corvette type, which can be used both for coastal defense, and in convoy service far out at sea, also will be constructed.

CLAIM NO SUGAR SURPLUS EXISTS IN UNITED STATES

are heavily stocked with sugar, officials said, is traceable to transportation difficulties and does not imply a "surplus." In addition, refineries have been unable to dispose of their output in the normal manner because of rationing restrictions.

Sugar has been piling up in large quantities in southern warehouses, particularly in the gulf area, because of war-imposed changes in shipping schedules. Sugar that once moved up the Atlantic coast from Cuba and Puerto Rico has been re-routed over the shorter distance to gulf ports.

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM

Similarly, heavy supplies are stock in California, the nation's largest beet sugar producing state, where the domestic crop is just beginning to come in. Hawaiian sugar now is shipped directly to West Coast ports, instead of being hauled through the Panama Canal and up to New York, Boston and other eastern centers.

Officials pointed out, however, that sugar from bulking warehouses in the south and west is being trans-shipped by rail, as rapidly as heavily taxed transportation facilities will permit, to shortage areas—chief of which is the northeastern section of the United States.

The nation possesses no "surplus" of sugar on the basis of an even distribution throughout the country, it was explained.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson said recently that conditions which made rationing necessary had not been changed, adding that OPA would be glad to lift rationing restrictions if an improvement in the sugar situation warranted such action.

Few detours are to be found in this part of Pennsylvania this season, very little construction work being in progress on the highways. War conditions are responsible.

At Jackson Park, East Washington street, a rambler rose bush presented a lovely sight to passersby. Bright red blooms showed thickly upon the bush, that encircled a post, atop which set a bird box.

During the taking up of rails down town, it would greatly help to expedite traffic if autoists would refrain from parking double. Tuesday evening, about five o'clock, a car was parked double, with no driver in sight, with a truck setting behind it, on the busiest part of Washington street.

CO-OPERATE IN BLACKOUT TEST

TUESDAY night's all-night blackout practice in New Castle and Western Pennsylvania, first of its kind to be held here, will constitute a test not only of our civilian defense organization but of public co-operation.

Rehearsals like this are essential to give the air raid wardens and auxiliary forces necessary training under conditions simulating the real thing; to school the people generally in measures required for their own safety and to reveal weaknesses and defects in the defense program.

Sirens will be given a thorough test at the start and end of the half-hour period of total blackout, to be held at an unannounced time. If the warning system is found unsatisfactory in certain areas, additional or more audible sirens will have to be installed. The protection of civilians during air attack depends greatly upon the adequacy of the warnings given them to take cover.

The total period will be the real test of blackout preparations, but householders must be careful during the whole night to have no lights that would be visible from outside. Those who have not yet set aside a room or rooms for blackout purposes will probably bestir themselves after the experience.

There is little question that our people will fully co-operate with the civilian defense authorities to make the test as satisfactory as possible. One way they can help is by avoiding use of the telephone, except for exceptionally important calls, during the half-hour of complete blackout and for a short time thereafter. Military and defense service must have the right of way.

Should this area ever be attacked by enemy planes, competent, cool-headed and co-operative civilian defense would be essential to the safety of all our people. Each individual bears a responsibility in insuring the protection of all. By making practice sessions like Thursday night's a complete success we are strengthening our own defense.

"WELL, I HEARD—"

Putting an end to retelling and expanding unfounded war rumors was urged in Washington by several speakers upon representatives of thirty-three national women's organizations.

The power for harm in what President Roosevelt calls "loose talk" and the head of the Australian military mission to the United States characterizes as "chatterbugging" is incalculable. Yet, despite the need for closest cooperation in all-out war effort, anti-British and anti-Russian talk crops out in the least expected places. And yet singleness of purpose by the United States, Britain and Russia is indispensable to victory.

The Washington meeting did not single out women as primarily the spreaders of dangerous gossip. They aren't. Too many club grills and locker rooms and luncheon round tables can furnish individuals who, however unwittingly, spread Axis propaganda virus and many a woman chauvinist becomes that from heated talk she hears at her own dinner table.

Positive good could result, however, if women's organizations generally set their faces squarely against war rumors. Such rumors should be met by demands as to where the speaker got her information and the search for the source of the rumors, if consequential enough, should be followed through.

Every such speaker should be impressed with the fact she has unconsciously been doing Hitler's work. And if that is a good attitude for women's clubdom to adopt, so it is for all others.

LEADER OF THE BAND

"Oh, Listen to the Band!" found few remonstrants in America. Almost everybody listened and enjoyed. The brass band became increasingly an American institution after the Civil War, and its martial strains were heard on almost every village green, even when harmony seemed an elusive witch. America was band conscious.

The death of Arthur Pryor, march composer and dean of American bandmasters, seems almost to mark the end of a musical era. The son of a bandmaster, he was a favorite pupil of John Philip Sousa, the march king, who was the greatest figure in a distinguished line of band leaders.

Stirring march music was not indigenous to America, as some incline to think, but America took it to its heart as few other peoples have done. Perhaps that is because some of the nation's best band music has been evoked by deep feeling. Sousa's composition of "The Stars and Stripes Forever," accounted by some the outstanding American march tune, for example, was inspired by an intense wave of nostalgia, when, about to sail from Havre on the steamship Oceania, he learned of the death of his tour manager.

American bands of the first class, Gillmore's, Sousa's, Pryor's, toured the cities of the United States and played to standing room. Europe knew them, and in its capitals Sousa was an idol. His marches, through the medium of the brasses, belonged to the world in the same sense as did Viennese waltzes, notably the compositions of Johann Strauss, father and son, for stringed orchestras.

Without these marches minstrelsy here would have died an earlier death. Such music antedated jazz and swing. Whatever the latter's future, band music surely will survive because it sets the pulses of thousands to beating in unison.

Reports that Japan's annual steel production is less than 10,000,000 tons sound as optimistic as the former ones that Germany would run out of oil in nine months of war.

Hints On Etiquette

Paul Ferenczy was received by letter from Beaver Presbytery and accepted a call to the Farrell Magyar church. His installation will take place on Sunday, September 13. During the business session, Bell Memorial church in Ellwood City was authorized to sell the steel framework salvaged from its recent building project.

The report from General Assembly, held at Milwaukee, was given by Rev. A. M. Stevenson of Ellwood City, who spoke of the high spiritual tone of the gathering and of the encouraging spirit of the assembly even in the face of the great difficulties now confronting the churches of the world.

Elder Scott Kildoo of Princeton was a commissioner to the Assembly at Milwaukee and made his reports. He reported, too, that he has served 52 years as an elder; 50 years as clerk of the session and 54 years as a Sunday school teacher.

Local Scouts To Have Crafts Program

Interesting Arts And Crafts Program Scheduled For Girl Scout Camping

Girl Scouts arts and crafts program was declared by Mrs. C. M. England, commissioner of the New Castle Girl Scout council, to be vital war work because it helps to preserve American culture and contributes to civilian morale.

Mrs. England quoted from a recent report of a special committee of the Girl Scout national Advisory Committee on Art Activities, in which it was declared that "American museums are prepared to do their utmost in the service of the people of this country during the present conflict" and that "Girl Scouts can help in this serious task not only through the arts of war but also and more lastingly through the arts of peace."

Members of the committee, all from New York City, were: Mrs. Julianne R. Force, director of the Whiting Museum of American Art; chairman; Alfred H. Barr, director of the Museum of Modern Art; Harding Scholle, director of the Museum of the City of New York, and Richard F. Bach, dean of education of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

"Keep occupied, learn a craft, have a soul saving occupation, work with your hands—that is part of the job," the committee advised the Girl Scout members. "But also, look about you, in your own city or town or village. Is there a museum or a library that needs you, that has lost staff members to the army, the navy, the marines—men whose jobs must be safeguarded until after the victory has been repulsed?"

Subsequent dispatches said that tank forces had pushed back the defenders from two directions.

In some places, it was reported, the Germans broke through the Soviet forward positions but were unable to penetrate deeply into Soviet defenses.

"At both day camp and permanent camp in New Castle, arts and crafts will be offered so we will be doing our best to furnish help in leisure time training," continues Mrs. England.

"If our girls can be of service to the community, contact the Girl Scout office, 412 Greer building.

Ceilings' Must Be Filed By July 1

Lists Of Top Prices Due In State OPA Office Within Few Days

Proprietors of retail establishments throughout Pennsylvania are being advised by the state Office of Price Administration in Philadelphia that lists of their ceiling prices for "cost-of-living" commodities, as defined in the general maximum price regulation should be filed with the state office of OPA not later than July 1.

The regulation calls for the filing of such lists with the local war price and rationing boards.

Dr. James E. Bogardus, state price executive of OPA for Pennsylvania, "We are asking retailers throughout the state, however, to file them instead with the Pennsylvania Office of Price Administration, Broad Street Suburban Station Building, Philadelphia.

"There are two reasons for this change. One is our desire to relieve the local boards of the physical task of handling these files until we are able to complete the program now being carried out to provide these boards with adequate space, personnel and equipment for their increasing responsibilities. The other is to permit officials in the state office to examine these returns before they are filed.

"All retailers are urged to prepare and file their lists at once if they have not already done so, since it has been announced nationally that there will be no further extension of the deadline for this action, originally called for on June 1."

Fierce engagements raged all around the Sevastopol naval base as Col. Gen. Fritz Von Bock threw in every available tank, plane and infantry unit.

The Nazi commander failed to achieve any marked success in the face of stubborn opposition by the defenders, reinforced by sea-borne Soviet troops which managed to come to the aid of the besieged fortress despite furious German aerial assaults.

"In the Sevastopol sector," the Soviet high command said, "The Soviets repelled fierce attacks by superior enemy forces."

Sugar Rationing Rush Falls Off

Slight Let-Down Today; Fewer Apply For Canning Sugar; Volunteers Help

With 10 volunteers responding to Attorney William J. Caldwell's appeal, sugar registration moved more quickly this morning at the Pearson street school buildings. The rush for canning sugar has fallen off a little, but many people who did not register for ration cards are coming in and the board is forced to work as hard as ever.

Pearson street is crowded with cars all day now and looks strange to those who knew it before the sugar board moved to the old Aiken schoolhouse.

To relieve the congestion in the building somewhat, the WPA office moved this morning to the left-hand side of the building, leaving another room for the sugar rationing board. The sugar board now has the two large rooms on the right-hand, or Washington street, side of the schoolhouse.

It is expected that the rush will fall off next week, but in the meantime the board workers, regular and volunteer, are writing as fast as their hands can move.

NAZIS HURL HUGE FORCE INTO DRIVE IN KHARKOV AREA

(Continued from Page One) stating that Soviet troops had counter-attacked and occupied a hill on the Sevastopol front that had been captured by the Germans only yesterday.

The entire front surrounding the beleaguered Black Sea naval base raged with intense fighting as German siege forces intensified their "smokes."

Arrangements are being made to handle the car situation, it was revealed today. While the army does not advocate the idea of WAAC's having cars on the post, they won't be banned, one officer said.

And so far as smoking is concerned, Col. Don C. Faith, general commander at the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps Training school at Fort Des Moines may have their own cars at the post and in true army style will be allowed their "smokes."

Subsequent dispatches said that the Nazis, hurling in fresh reserves of tank forces had pushed back the defenders from two directions.

In some places, it was reported, the Germans broke through the Soviet forward positions but were unable to penetrate deeply into Soviet defenses.

"It's the custom for civilized women, if they wish, to smoke." WAAC's will have the same privilege," the colonel observed. But he made it clear that cigarettes will be smoked only out of class and out of formations.

MUM ON BLONDES, BRUNETTES

Noted as a student of psychology, Col. Faith refused to be drawn out on his ideas of the "ideal WAAC." He would be putting himself far out on a limb, he said, if he advocated blondes rather than brunettes or married women rather than single ones.

"But you can quote me on these qualifications for the typical WAAC," he suggested. "They must have leadership, an exceptional physique, teaching ability, enthusiasm and a flexible mind."

Recreational facilities on the post grounds include tennis courts, a swimming pool, bowling alley and a golf course—all of which will be available to the WAACs.

It was pointed out by one officer, however, that the first of the women soldiers probably will get enough exercise without the sports angle.

"Mass drills, calisthenics and maneuvers will give them plenty of outdoor exercises," he predicted. But the facilities are there for them to use if they wish.

Services clubs will be built for the WAACs and there will be community singing and an all-woman WAAC band, eventually.

The moon communiqué of the Soviet high command mentioned only the fighting around Sevastopol.

"During the night on the Sevastopol sector fighting continued with superior enemy forces," it was said.

On other sectors of the front no material changes were reported.

The three-day-old offensive in the Kharkov area by Nazi Field Marshal Fedor Von Bock forced Russian troops "to retire to new positions."

"The regulation calls for the filing of such lists with the local war price and rationing boards," said Dr. James E. Bogardus, state price executive of OPA for Pennsylvania. "We are asking retailers throughout the state, however, to file them instead with the Pennsylvania Office of Price Administration, Broad Street Suburban Station Building, Philadelphia.

Meeting Thursday Night On Latest Project For Training Service Pilots

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., June 24.—Young men who desire to enroll in the government's latest project for training service pilots in cooperation with various colleges will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Study 1 of New Castle Senior high school.

Dean Maxwell R. Kelso, Westminster College, CAA coordinator and Findley Wilson of New Castle airport will describe the government's program and answer any questions.

Westminster Grove City, and a few other colleges in this area have been assigned to aid the government in this program designed to train non-combat pilots. The 20 men assigned to Westminster college will live in the college dormitory, and attend special classes. They will receive instruction at New Castle airport. Subsistence and tuition costs will be paid by the government.

Present to assist him will be E. D. Hawk, chief of the Emergency Service Corps of the Lawrence County council, composed of scouts trained to serve in almost any emergency. His corps in operation for three years, will be in attendance.

Complete instructions as to what scouts will be called upon to do will be given by County Controller Frank W. Hill, secretary of the Lawrence County Council of Defense.

Davis and Hawk both called tonight's meeting one of the most important in years, for the smooth functioning of the blackout cooperation which scouting will give depends upon the discussion.

Seabees Prepare For Anything, Anywhere

Lieutenant Simonsen's group of Seabees, the second such group to train at the NYA Resident Center in the last month and a half, have come to consider New Castle as the best post they have ever had, it was learned yesterday.

"The people are grand—willing to do anything they can to help us enjoy ourselves," said one big, burly petty officer from Chicago. "I like the city so much I have had my wife come down. She was only going to stay the week-end but people were so nice that she's still here."

The rest of the sailors repeated the petty officer's comment in glowing terms.

Lieutenant Simonsen's men ought to have good time in New Castle. They are just like our boys who have left for military service. A talk with them convinces you of that. Though they come from every state in the Union, and every walk of life, they are American boys and American boys are the same the world over.

The USO is right when they say "you help someone you know when you help the USO."

Eager Trade

Among the 100 Seabees can be found almost every trade and profession you can mention. For instance, there is an ex-Hollywood photographer, Vern Jorgenson; a former junior welterweight champion, George C. Rukland, and a former member of the British navy who does not want his name mentioned. He also declined to comment on the relative merits of the American and British naval forces.

There are oil field men from Texas, carpenters, plumbers, electricians, coppersmiths, shipfitters, interior decorators, painters, highway engineers, welders and truck drivers in the group. In case you wonder what exactly use interior decorators would be to a group of fighting construction men, we will tell you. They are being trained as camouflage experts.

These men, from all trades and all walks of life, are being welded into a complete self-sufficient unit to build and fight outside the continental units of the United States.

Eager To Prepare

They are eager to learn and ready for any sort of work, according to Lieutenant Simonsen. "The way the men throw themselves to the work out here and the eagerness with which they drill are indicative of their desire to get themselves ready for active service in the shortest time possible." He added that they would probably be out of the country in three or four months.

The marine corporals who have been in charge of drilling and teaching military tactics seconded Lieutenant Simonsen's observations about the eagerness of the men to learn. Both Corporal Lewis V. Cesa and Benjamin Royal, who have been here since May 25 and worked with the first group of Seabees, praised the spirit of the men.

"It's not much fun lugging a heavy Springfield all afternoon to drill, and it's not much fun doing guard duty, but these men don't seem to care. They want to learn and they are," said Corporal Cesa. Corporal Cesa knew Marine Recruiting Sergeant John L. Dean out in San Diego when Dean was fighting and Cesa played for the marine football team.

It is expected that the present group of Seabees will remain in New Castle for another week or two before they leave for "somewhere in the wide world" as one of the men put it. While they stay, the people of New Castle can help by being as nice as possible to these men who are doing so much for us.

Public Relations Officer Is Named

Announcement was made today by Col. Robert G. Woodsidge, commanding the Third Regiment, Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps, of the appointment of Captain Charles Lyle Selt as Public Relations Officer for the regiment. He succeeds Captain Al Goughy, who was commissioned a captain in the air corps and sent to Florida.

Company B, stationed in the Joseph V. Cunningham Armory here is a unit of the third regiment.

Maybe bombers alone can't win, but they can soften up the enemy land so a corporal's guard can take it.

Changeable Chestnuts Challenge Exerts

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, June 24.—A unique horse-chestnut tree growing on the campus of the State Forest school at Mont Alto, Franklin county, has been reported by Research Forester John E. Aughabaugh of the Department of Forests and Waters.

The tree, now about twenty-eight inches in diameter and fifty feet tall, has a trunk which divides at ten feet above the ground, into two large branches. It alternates its flowers and fruit annually from one side of the tree to the other. This summer it bore flowers and fruit on the north branch but in 1941 it was only the south fork that yielded.

Mr. Aughabaugh has observed this tree for the past ten years and it has adhered regularly to this schedule. It deserves to be ranked with the outstanding freaks among woody plants. No explanation for this strange phenomenon has been advanced, except to intimate that it is due to some abnormal phase of plant physiology.

It is expected that the present group of Seabees will remain in New Castle for another week or two before they leave for "somewhere in the wide world" as one of the men put it. While they stay, the people of New Castle can help by being as nice as possible to these men who are doing so much for us.

V-Mail Service Is Inaugurated For Armed Forces

New Light-Weight Stationary, Folding Into Envelope Is Developed

TO SEND LETTERS ON MICRO FILM

In order to conserve badly needed space for the transportation of vital war supplies, the Post Office Department at the instance of the War Department has developed a new V-Mail service which has already been inaugurated and will soon be in effect here. Postmaster William R. Hanna stated today. This consists of a special standard form letter sheet, which is a combination of letter and envelope of minimum weight and grade, so constructed and gummed as to fold into a uniform and distinctively marked envelope.

The correspondence side of the sheet has been arranged so as to allow the largest possible space for the message and nothing may be enclosed with the message.

In addition, to further expedite this V-Mail destined for overseas, where large volumes and long distances are involved, there will be inaugurated a photographic micro-filming facility, in conjunction with the V-Mail service.

Stations will be set up under control of the military authorities for the purpose of photographing V-Mail letters by specialized machines on 16-millimeter films, which will then be dispatched by the fastest means possible, a combination of fast surface ships or ferry planes, and will be reproduced at the point of destination and photographed on a card 4x5½ inches, placed in a special envelope and sent to the receiver. The same service will be inaugurated from troops overseas.

As in the case of present mail, no charge is made to the soldier, but those outside the military will pay three cents per letter, or if special airmail service is desired, six cents.

To show how much space will be conserved by this new service, the Post Office Department states that the space required for 150,000 V-Mail letters will be 22 sacks, and weigh 1,500 pounds, whereas only 87,500 ordinary letters could be sent and would require 37 sacks, and weigh 2,575 pounds. Thus 62,500 more men would get letters, which might have to wait until the next dispatch of mail. This would make available for the transportation of vital military materials, 1,075 pounds and the space of 15 sacks.

If micro-film facilities are available, the space would be reduced to 3.15 per cent of the original, as 150,000 letters could be micro-photographed and reduced to a weight of 45 pounds and occupy the space of but one mall sack.

The Post Office Department is printing up a supply of V-Mail letter sheets, which will be distributed through the local post offices until stationary manufacturers can get them into the hands of dealers. Post Offices in larger cities have already received a supply and the local post office expects to get a limited supply very soon. No charge is made but only three forms will be issued to any individual at any one time.

Permits will be issued by the Post Office Department to print these special letter forms to anyone who conforms to the requirements.

Eastern Pennsylvania Has All-Night Blackout Test

Authorities Are Pleased At Test

Total Blackout Period In Philadelphia Extended From 10:30 To 11 P.M.

WAR CONDITIONS ARE SIMULATED

By FRANK J. BURK
(U.N.S. Staff Correspondent)

PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—State and local civilian defense authorities today expressed satisfaction with the results of the East's largest all-night blackout—an awe-inspiring demonstration which affected 5,650,000 persons in 31 eastern Pennsylvania counties.

From 8:30 p.m. last night until 5 o'clock this morning the entire eastern half of Pennsylvania was darkened, from the mountain regions of the north, through the rich anthracite coal belt, to the Delaware and Maryland borders.

"It was as nearly like the real thing as we could make it," said Dr. A. C. Marts, executive director of the state defense council. "Impressive," said army officials who kept close tabs on the first large-scale dusk-to-dawn test in the state.

Total Blackout

From 10:30 p.m. until 11, all traffic was stopped and street lights were extinguished in a half-hour "total blackout" simulating actual war conditions. The time of the complete eclipse was contained in sealed orders held by local defense councils.

Similar all-night tests are scheduled in Central Pennsylvania counties tonight, while the soft coal and steel centers in the western section of the state will hold their test tomorrow night.

A bright moon shone down on the entire proceedings, lighting the roof-tops of buildings, clearly marking ing out rivers and streams. All defense plants were exempt from the blackout regulations and sent up flaring invitations to enemy bombers.

Arms production plants continued to blaze through the war-important area, not only in Philadelphia, but in Chester, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton, Easton and Reading. Only the army has the power to order war industries to blackout.

Citizenry Co-operative

But in general the citizenry was cooperative, although many had to make hasty last-minute adjustments of "blackout rooms". Some air-raid wardens were so cooperative that they called "total blackouts" half an hour before the scheduled time.

The all-night blackout was used as a test period by the Red Cross and other agencies cooperating with the civilian defense control centers. Bands of special wardens roamed the area creating "incidents" and reporting the results.

A striking feature of the practice was the great silence that prevailed during the night—as if the cutting off of light automatically caused pedestrians to lower their voices. Big cities became "small towns" for a while in the interests of self-protection.

Expect 3,000,000 Youths To Register On June 30

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, June 24—National Selective Service headquarters disclosed Tuesday that the 3,000,000 youths 18, 19 and 20 years old, who register for the draft next Tuesday will be given their order numbers on the basis of their birth dates, instead of by holding another national lottery.

Draft headquarters, in an official bulletin, pointed out that 20-year-olds who register on June 30 will be liable to military service, and that the younger registrants also will be liable to be called to the colors as they become 20.

In scrapping the lottery in favor of classification by birth dates Selective Service officials announced that the June 30 registrants will be given their order numbers in the following manner:

"The local board will arrange the registration cards of registrants in a pile according to their respective dates of birth so that the cards of registrants born on January 1, 1922 will be on top, the cards of registrants born on January 2, 1922 will follow the cards of those born on January 1, 1922, the cards of those born on January 3, 1922 will follow the cards of those born on January 2, 1922 and so on to the bottom of the pile where the cards of those born on June 30, 1922 will be located. When the local board has cards for two or more registrants born on the same date, such cards shall be arranged in alphabetical order."

Youths registering on June 30—the fifth registration of the nation's manpower since the Selective Service Act was passed in 1940—will be placed at the bottom of the list of present registrants comprising men between the ages of 20 and 44, inclusive.

Men in class I-A of previous registrations will be called up before the June 30 registrants are summoned, it was said. Draft officials refused to hazard a guess on when the first of the new crop of registrants will be called into the army.

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, June 24.—Alien Property Custodian Leon T. Crowley today seized an additional group of more than 750 enemy-owned patents including approximately 200 patents of I. G. Farben Industrie, giant German chemical and dye trust.

Patents seized covered an automatic drill and riveter for use in aircraft construction, a conveyor already in wide use in this country in coal mines, certain processes in oil refining, and chemicals, including adrenalin compound and chlorinated rubber.

A number of the patents seized were owned by Japanese, Italian and Hungarian corporations and individuals.

Crowley also seized control of the J. M. Legmann company Inc., of New York, manufacturers of machinery used in the ink and paint industries; the Adleco X-ray corporation of New York, American agent for distribution of X-ray equipment produced by the Hugo Steinhaus Electrical company of Germany, and the Ergen corporation of New York, a real estate holding firm owning real estate in New York.

Also taken over were the interests of German nationals in the estate of Anna M. Von Zeditz, deceased American citizen, who organized the Avoniel corporation as a personal holding company to control about $2,500,000 of improved real estate located in New York.

Elders, Bessemer Moose Grab Wins In Tight City Race

Rivals Continue Hammer And Tong Struggle For First Half Toga Tuesday

SLOVAK A. C. NINE NIPS CROTON, 4-3

With the City Baseball league first half race officially over Thursday night, the scramble for the elusive gonfalon is a hammer and tong struggle involving three teams—Elders, Moose and Bessemer.

The Elders, who began a Hans at the Dike yarn a few weeks back, maintained their slim lead over the Moose and Bessemer Tuesday night by downing the Lawrence Indies, 3-2, on Marshall field.

Bessemer kept right in step with the leader by further sinking the leagues' doormat, the West Side Tigers, 3-1, on Bessemer field, and the Moose club scratched out a 3-2 triumph over a stubborn West Pittsburgh aggregation on West Pittsburg field.

The Slovaks' 4-3 nod over Croton rounded out one of the most interesting rounds of the season.

The standing today finds the Elders guiding the parade with 11 wins against five losses; the Moose is parked in second with 12 and 7 while Bessemer is hitched to third with 10 and 6. West Pittsburg, which still has a slight chance to overtake the leader, sports 9 and 8 mark. The others can start thinking about the second half jousts.

ELDERS NAB SIXTH

The tussle was a tight pitching match between Dick Withrow and Soho. The Indies twirler gave up only three hits while Withrow was touched a half dozen times. Seven was the top hitter, collecting a pair of safeties.

CROTON ELIMINATED

Croton's hopes of garnering the winning were practically erased last night when the Slovaks snatched a 4-3 win over the hill district team on Cedar street grounds.

Croton grabbed a three-run edge in the opening frame. The Slovaks, paced by Kroesen, Parrot and Mingo, got two back in the second and deadlocked the count in the sixth. The winning tally came in the seventh.

CROTON ELIMINATED

Croton's hopes of garnering the winning were practically erased last night when the Slovaks snatched a 4-3 win over the hill district team on Cedar street grounds.

Croton grabbed a three-run edge in the opening frame. The Slovaks, paced by Kroesen, Parrot and Mingo, got two back in the second and deadlocked the count in the sixth. The winning tally came in the seventh.

The tussle was a tight pitching match between Dick Withrow and Soho. The Indies twirler gave up only three hits while Withrow was touched a half dozen times. Seven was the top hitter, collecting a pair of safeties.

U. S. Navy Recruiting Station Old Federal Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

June 22, 1942.

Mr. Edward H. Fritz,

New Castle News,

New Castle, Pa.

Dear Mr. Fritz:

On behalf of the Navy Recruiting service allow me to express our sincere appreciation for your aid and cooperation during the recent New Castle Navy Week. Your generous contribution of time and effort helped make Navy Week the success it was.

Please convey our gratitude to Messrs. Cumbo and Leach also. Their efforts are equally appreciated.

Thank you for helping us do a vitally necessary job.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) E. S. Keckler,

Lieutenant, U. S. Naval Reserve,

EBK-J, Officer-in-charge.

More than 23,000 fans were at the Melio Bettina-Harry Bobo "Bomber for MacArthur" fight in Cleveland last night.

Bobo is one peg down the ladder today. Bettina having got off the floor to win on points. Since turning heavyweight Bettina has had a successful campaign.

ELDERS PLAY TONIGHT

While their nearest rivals rest, the Elders hope to pick up additional ground tonight when they play host to the West Side Tigers on Marshall field, Scott street.

The game will start at 6 o'clock.

A their victory would throw a monkey wrench in the Elders' championship plans.

Because Ernie Pelai refused to abide by the terms of a contract which called for him to box Tom Yaroz at Beaver Falls, Promoter Bill Dummer of Pittsburgh has called off the bout, which means it isn't likely the Beaver Valley will have pro ringsters.

Chi Cubs have bought 100 box seats for the White Sox-Indians and also the Great Lakes-Chicago field ball games July 1-2. Ezzard Charles Chinaman, high school boy, will give Charley Burley, the New York Yanks of golf, Jimmy Thomson and the remaining bigwigs a second chance at Pittsburgh. Ezzard batted Burley several weeks ago.

In his first tour, the Shenango Township high school breezed along in '75. Someone who has competed in all tournaments involving the elite, to go around with the boy. The boy almost knocked the pro dizzy with a 68' Espinoza blast.

Not bad for a 16-year-old boy, eh?

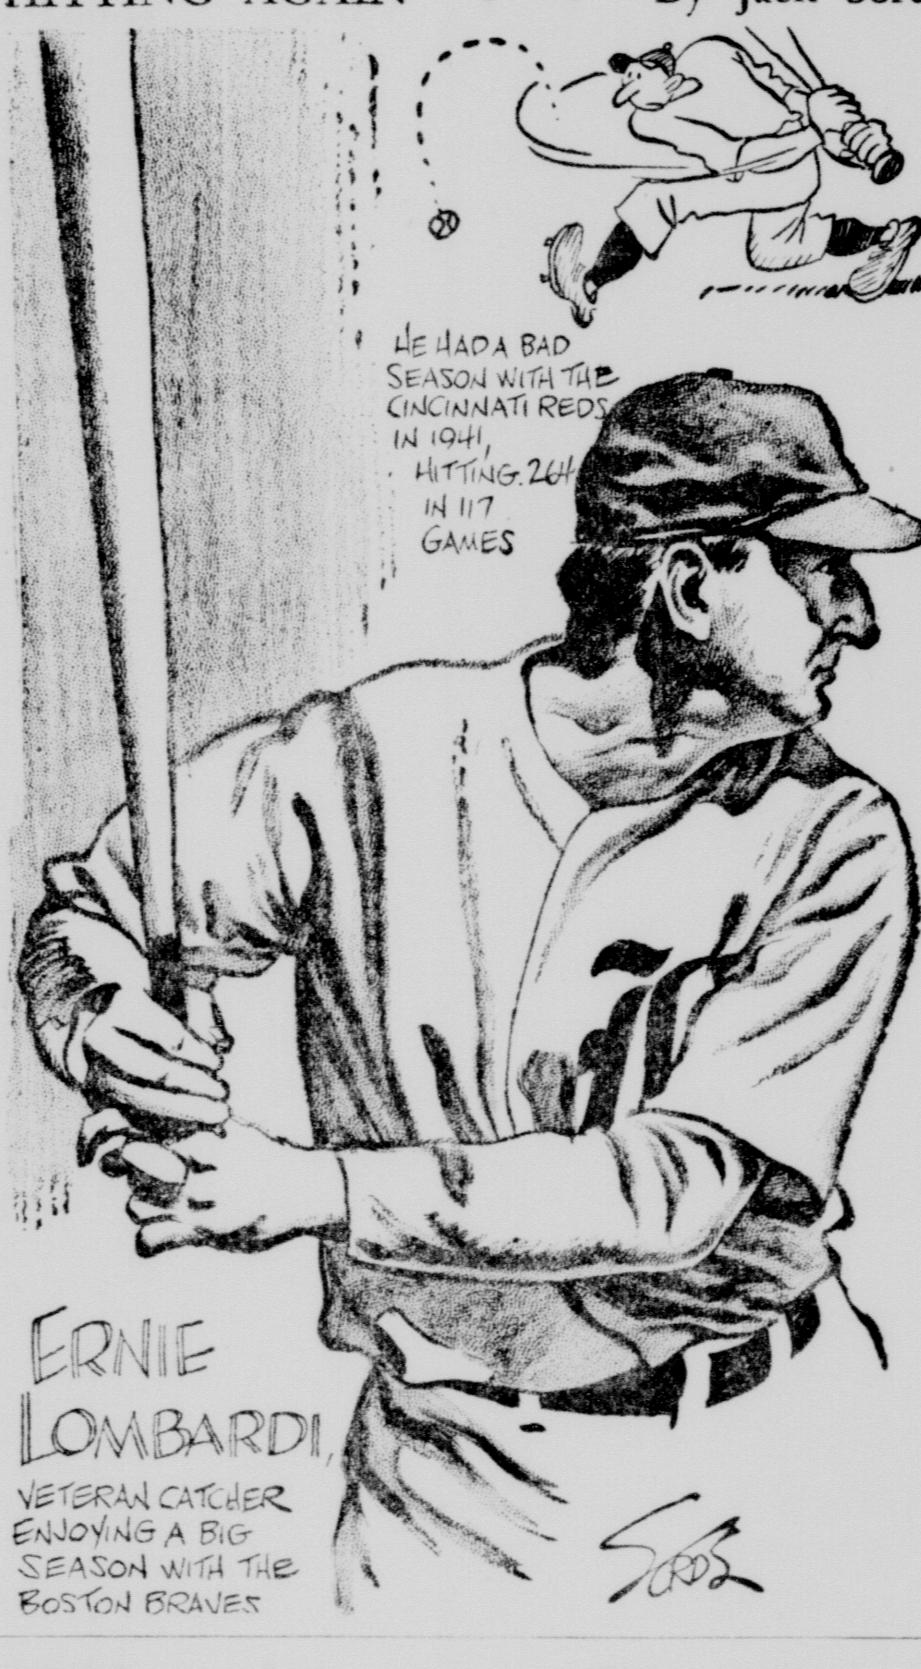

The Montreal Royals know about taxes. They pay to the city, province, Dominion and war.

NAMED ON TEAM

Forrest "Frosty" Sprowl, sharp-shooting senior forward on the Purdie basketball quintet of last season, has been named as a member of the mythical All-American basketball squad selected annually by Chuck Taylor. Sprowl, one of the leading Big Ten scorers, was named as the most valuable players to the team for two successive seasons.

Southpaw Meets Tommy Williams Tuesday Night

Can a good right stance fighter beat an equally as good left stance boxer? Some say yes, others take the negative. However, the fact remains that many southpaws have upset good left stance fighters. The fans here will receive an opportunity Tuesday night to see for themselves when Southpaw Frankie Moran battles Tommy Williams, Carnegie's runner-up for the Diamond Belt welterweight championship.

Moran has toppled over many orthodox fighters but he has not always executed the main damage with his left. He totes a kayak in his right and this makes him one of the most feared amateur boxers hereabouts. And to be frank about things, Frankie Moran in the writer's opinion is one of the best pugilists to bob up here in several years. Owing to family obligations he has not been able like some others have to seek new fields and bid foristic prestige.

Final Meets Bilpuch

However, there are two other scraps on next Tuesday's calendar that require no cooking-up. For instance take the Lawrence County Amateur middleweight title bout between Russell Baxter of New Castle and Roy Crews of Ellwood City. This scrap will have all the heat it's that contained in that now historic Ne-Ca-Hi-Ellwood City high football game and when Marine Sergeant Jimmie Final battles Army Sergeant Bill Bilpuch gloves will be thick as mosquitoes.

There are names such as Leasure, Aiello, etc. on the card and indications point to a sell-out when the Jefferson A. C. holds the bouts. It is probable that several knockouts will occur.

CHICAGO June 22—Western Pennsylvania's lone representative in the women's western golf tournament, Mrs. Thomas E. Nolan, of New Castle, Pa., was eliminated yesterday by Mary Agnes Wall, of Menominee, Mich., 4 and 2.

The talented Pennsylvania qualified on Monday with an exceptionally good round.

The other favorites, including Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex.; Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga.; Georgia Tainter of Fargo, N. D., and Mrs. Russell Mann of Omaha, Neb., came through handily.

Schaas' two-hit twirling netted the West Side A. C. an 8-2 City-County Independent Baseball league triumph over the St. Margaret's nine Tuesday night on E. & A. field.

"Ducky" Guinaugh, Bob Bechtel and Kearns provided the heavy hitting.

RAMBLERS DEFEAT DEAN PARK DODGERS

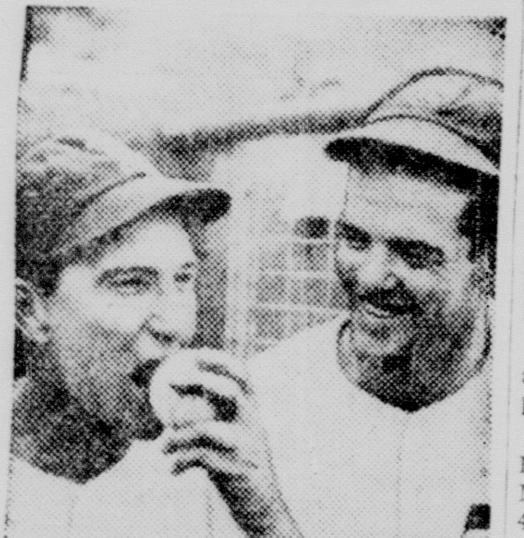

North Hill Ramblers scored an impressive victory over the strong Dean Park Dodgers on Colonial Field last Friday evening, winning 6-1 behind the effective hurling of Bill Andrews. Andrews scattered eight hits over the seven innings, while Jordan's triple and Jackson's double, both coming with the bases loaded in the fourth and fifth innings, accounted for all the Ramblers runs. Ramblers will play Gus team at Marshall Field tonight.

MRS. GEHRIG PRESENTS AMBULANCE

First ambulance bought by the Lou Gehrig Memorial fund is presented to Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York, right, by Mrs. Lou Gehrig, widow of the late New York Yankee star. The ambulance will be used by one of the city's hospitals.

FAIR OR FOUL By LAWTON CARVER INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 24—You could have knocked the fellow over with a three-horse parley when he finally absorbed the fact that, according to the baseball standings, the Brooklyn Dodgers now have a slightly better chance of winning the National League pennant than the New York Yankees have to come through in the American League. But there it was in black and white as the fellow scanned it. There could be no doubt about it. The Dodgers were 7½ games in front in their circuit, while the Yankees were leading by only 7 games.

The difference was so small as to be almost negligible. The season isn't even half over yet and anything still can happen, but, as the fellow said, who'd ever thought a few years ago that day would come when the Dodgers would be even that little better than the Yanks in their respective leagues.

There were no games Monday, but all clubs swing back into action yesterday to give rise to speculation on the further fact that for the time being the Dodgers have a better chance to increase their lead. They are playing at home, and are fresh out of a series in which they stopped the St. Louis Cardinal threat. The Yankees are travelling through the west on an extended tour and are in a notably persistent slump.

They left New York utterly confident that before they got through with this road trip they would be virtually in again in the American League, yet the Yankees have lost six of their last eight games. Manager McCarthy, according to quotations bandied about by the New York reporters, is unperturbed by the situation. He thinks they will come out of it. The point is they haven't in a week.

Good Pitch, No Hit

It so happens that the Yankees are getting positively great pitching, but their hitting has fallen away to a mere whisper and the result has been and continues to be quite obvious in the box scores. Ernie Bonham has been the bunting master of the big noise on the mound all season, but Hank Borowy has been coming through of late and has won the only two games for the champions that they have taken on the road up to Tuesday.

That's correct, the Yankees had won two games on their current road trip, which is scarcely the kind of baseball calculated to win any pennants in any league.

Some more of the sad news about the Yankees is that they have made more than 10 hits only once during their current road trip and in their last six games they have scored a grand total of only 11 runs, meaning being shutout twice.

All this would lead you to one of two conclusions: (A) the rest of the league now faces a great chance to overhaul the Yankees; or (B) the Yankees will get going just as soon as Joe DiMaggio, Charley Keller, Tom Heinrich and some of the rest start hitting to augment the efforts of Joe Gordon.

The Dodgers meantime have been going great. They topped up the second place Cards in the latter's recent visit to Dodger-land and are breezing along on the hitting of some of their stalwarts, not overlooking Joe Medwick, who had run up a 25-game batting streak, as of yesterday.

PASS FOR JOHNSON

St. Johnson will never have to worry about having enough money to see a major league game once he hangs up his shoes and glove. The other day the Phils' pitcher received a registered package from the National League offices. In it was a silver lifetime pass for both the American and National leagues, a reward for having served 10 years in the majors, moritoriously.

RAINY DAY FUND

There isn't a person who knows Hans Lobert, Phils' manager, who would accuse him of being scrooge. Yet there was a time when Lobert walked around with a 20-dollar bill hidden, not inside his shoe, but in his sock, right next to his skin. It was train fare money to be used if he failed to make the grade in 1904.

THANKS FANS

Albie Gossop, Phils' second sacker who thrills the fans with his speedy middle-man action in double plays, had an experience that is seldom enjoyed by a player—that is to do something worth while in a game when the home folks are having "his day" at the park. He hit a Homer.

Yes, Prices HAVE Stopped Rising . . . But

many people are still in doubt about the exact meaning of price-freezing. It does not mean that prices are exactly the same everywhere. It does mean that prices in each store are fixed at the levels which prevailed in that store at a given time. Find out where prices have been fixed at the most reasonable levels. Most Famous Draft Dodger Eager To Enlist This Time

International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 24.—Grover Cleveland Bergdolt, who became the nation's most famous draft dodger by refusing to fight the Kaiser in 1917, is eager now to join America's armed forces and "help the German people unshackle themselves."

Thompson seeks commutation of Bergdolt's seven and a half year sentence for desertion and escape from the army, imposed by a court martial. The prisoner is at the U. S. disciplinary barracks, Fort Leavenworth, Kan., where he has served three years of his term. He is now 49.

"There is something to be said about the significance of Bergdolt's enlistment with America in World War II," said the letter to Biddle.

Name Committee For Marine Day

Young Women To Serve On Chaperone Committee For Event Of July 4

He was widely known in Germany and highly regarded because of his opposition to American intervention in World War I. When he read of his enlistment there are many Germans who will see in that decision the act of a man who has decided to help the German people unshackle themselves from the vicious grip of the Austrian paperhanger.

Pointing out that prior to 1917 Bergdolt was an experienced aviator, the letter adds:

"Mr. Bergdolt's enlistment now in the air corps will mean something for unity and will also mean that in Mr. Bergdolt's opinion Hitler is doomed."

Biddle was asked to intervene with President Roosevelt on Bergdolt's behalf. The letter to Biddle was suggested, Thompson explained, by Democratic National Chairman Edward J. Flynn. Thompson is a former state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.
